Product description

CURT towing starter kits are the all-in-one accessory package to accompany your trailer hitch, equipping you with the necessary components to hitch up and hit the road. Each towing starter kit includes a ball mount and a hitch pin or hitch lock, eliminating the need to purchase these items separately and removing the stress of needing to find components of matching size. This CURT towing starter kit features a Fusion ball mount #45134 with a 2" x 2" shank to fit a class 3, 4 or 5 trailer hitch. CURT Fusion ball mounts are a unique ball mount option, featuring a permanently attached, welded trailer ball. Much like CURT Euro Mount ball mounts, Fusion ball mount trailer balls require no torquing and can never be loosened or stolen, making them very secure and reliable. The Fusion ball mount in this towing starter kit features a 2" diameter trailer ball, a 2" drop and a 7-1/2" length. It offers a gross trailer weight capacity of up to 7,500 lbs. and a tongue weight rating of 750 lbs. Also included in this towing starter kit is a CURT hitch lock #23021. The lock is a dead bolt-style lock and provides an extra level of security when mounting the Fusion ball mount. Much like a hitch pin, the hitch lock inserts through both the receiver tube of the trailer hitch and the shank of the ball mount. The hitch lock shank can then be secured using the dead bolt lock head. The lock uses an easy-to-operate, quarter-turn activation system and features a chrome-plated finish to ensure solid rust resistance. It comes with two keys and a watertight dust cap to prevent internal corrosion. For the new hitch owner and towing veteran alike, a CURT towing starter kit is the perfect accessory to Bring It.

Different types of CURT trailer hitch ball mounts

Standard ball mounts

CURT offers a range of trailer hitch ball mounts with multiple shank sizes, capacities and degrees of drop and rise.

Heavy-duty ball mounts

We carry trailer hitch ball mounts with an extra-durable carbide powder coat finish and as much GTW capacity as 21,000 pounds.

Multi-use ball mounts

Our multi-use hitch ball mounts feature various ball sizes welded to the same shank to accommodate different trailers.

Adjustable hitch ball mounts

Our adjustable trailer hitch ball mount line allows for level towing of your vehicle and trailer and is perfect for multiple vehicle owners.

How to select a hitch ball mount

Three factors to consider

There are three main things to consider when selecting a trailer hitch ball mount: how much weight you are going to be towing, what size receiver tube your trailer hitch has and how much drop or rise your ball mount will need (below).

Trailer weight vs capacity

First, be sure to select a ball mount with enough gross trailer weight capacity to fit your trailer. Trailer weight is one of the most important aspects of towing, and you should never exceed the weight capacity of any component of your vehicle, trailer or trailer hitch setup.

Hitch receiver size

Next, determine what size shank you will need. Receiver tubes come in a handful of standard sizes, including 1-1/4, 2, 2-1/2 and sometimes 3 inches, so finding a ball mount to match is relatively easy.

View larger

How to determine drop or rise

After you know how much weight you will be towing and the size of your receiver tube, you will need to determine the drop or rise necessary for your trailer.

Drop or rise is the amount of height difference between the trailer and your tow vehicle, whether that difference is positive (rise) or negative (drop).

The diagram offers a quick explanation for how to determine your needed drop or rise. Take the distance from the ground to the top of the inside of your receiver tube opening (A), and subtract it from the distance from the ground to the bottom of the trailer coupler (B).

B minus A equals C, the drop or rise.

Hitch + Lock = what is there not to like?!

Reviewed in the United States on March 27, 2019

Verified Purchase

Great deal for a mount with lock. I got this to tow a Uhaul trailer to move a fridge. I dont have a truck so renting. Uhaul trailer was the next option. It was cheaper to rent a trailer than to rent a Uhaul truck

Well it worked great. The mount locks into place with the included lock so you dont have to worry about anyone stealing your mount if left on the hitch.

There was an issue that I notice. The Curt 2in mount that I got fits a little on the loose side with the Curt 2in receiver on my SUV. Comparing to the Reese 2in hitch that Uhaul sells that one fits nice while the Curt was loose. I haven't towed anything in a long and the Curt hitch was making all kinds of banging sound when towing the trailer with not enough tongue weight going over bumps. I don't remember this happening with my previous vehicle and think it may be due to the loose fitting in the receiver. I still give it 5 stars as it did the job and functions as it should.

Does what it is supposed to do, no problems

Reviewed in the United States on September 26, 2019

Did about 2k miles pulling a small U Haul cargo trailer with a 2015 Honda Pilot, no issues. Added a dollop of white lithium grease to the top of the ball (and cleaned the inside of the trailer coupler) before coupling things up. Chrome on ball was still in great shape when I returned the trailer 12 days later.

The lock is ok but not what I'd call high security, it will only deter casual theft. I wish ALL these trailer hitch pin locks also had a hole for a cotter pin to add another level of towing safety, it should be mandatory, waaaay to many horror stories of these locks coming off while in transit.

I added a sturdy wheel boot, a coupler lock, + a hardcore padlock on the safety chains while parked overnight. Also another high security lock on the trailer door + door alarm + an alarm in the tow vehicle... slept pretty well.

I bought this to go into a Curt brand receiver hitch. It fits in there so loosely that there is over 3/4" of movement which makes the trailer bounce around like crazy. Because of the movement it also wore away on the ball with only 3 hours of trailer towing. I ended up buying a different brand and it fits great. I wish I had tested it in time to return it. Buyer Beware!!

No Locking Pin and No Support

Reviewed in the United States on August 1, 2018

Verified Purchase

The hitch looks great, but it didn't have the locking pin attached. I contacted Amazon and they said to contact Curt. Of course when I contacted Curt they said Amazon was who I needed to talk too. So bottom line I got the shaft (pun intended) from Amazon and Curt, and had to order another locking pin...but not from Curt. Add to this the shipping costs to have it mailed to the Philippines and you can understand my attitude.

lots of slack

This has a ton of slack when connected to receiver, it jumps all around. I measured to see if it was a different size but it isn't the mount is just too small and has a lot of play. The lock is fantastic...just hope it holds up with all the wiggling...it is obnoxiously loud when not on smooth road

Sturdy and fits perfectly!

This is the first trailer hitch ball mount I've ever purchased. Easy install on my 2005 Toyota 4Runner directly into the receiver. Fits perfect and snugly without any play. Lock feature is nice, as I know people who have had theirs stolen from time to time. Would highly recommend! Great product!

The only surprise was the 2" ball is welded onto the tongue. Not a problem with the U-Haul trailer I rented, but, if I ever need a different size ball I have to buy a new tongue.
